Last weekend, somebody bought a lottery ticket, chose all the correct numbers and won millions. How lucky! Or maybe not. In the 1970s, scientists at the University of Illinois studied lottery winners and compared their levels of happiness with other people. The results were interesting. The winners felt delighted for a short time, but after that, their happiness returned to normal levels. A similar study by the University of California in 2008 gave the same results. They looked at lottery winners six months after their win and found completely normal levels of happiness. And for a few unlucky people, a huge lottery win was the start of major problems. Alex Toth, for example, won $13 million in 1990. He stopped working, spent the money quickly and had terrible arguments with his family and friends.

Message in a bottle

In 1990 Zoe Lemon was on a ferry, sailing from Hull in England to Germany. She was going on holiday with her family. The journey was long and tiring and ten-year-old Zoe soon got bored. To pass the time, she decided to write a message in a bottle and drop it into the sea. 'It will be interesting if someone finds it,' she thought. Then she forgot about the bottle completely.

Twenty-three years later, she was amazed to get a reply from someone in the Netherlands. A man was walking on the beach and was surprised to find Zoe's bottle in the sand. He wrote to the address on the message, where Zoe's parents still live. Zoe was delighted, but it was also very moving for her to see her message again after twenty-three years, and she cried when she read it. 'It's astonishing that the bottle didn't break,' said Zoe. Her five-year-old son thinks it is all very exciting and wants to put a message in a bottle himself!

- 8 SPEAKING Work in pairs. Tell your partner about a time when you hurt or injured yourself. Use vocabulary from exercise 6.

I broke my arm when I was six years old.

A life without pain

1.12

A All children hurt themselves from time to time. But when thirteen-year-old Ashlyn Blocker was younger, she had more accidents and injuries than her friends. For example, she once put her hands on a very hot engine and got a serious burn. She only knew about it when she looked at her skin. She showed her parents and they took her straight to hospital. Ashlyn simply did not know when she injured herself.

B When Ashlyn was a baby, her parents knew she was different: she didn't cry. Then, when she was eight months old, they noticed there was some blood in her eye, so they took her to see a doctor. The doctor was shocked and confused when he looked at Ashlyn's eye: there was a serious cut. So why wasn't the baby girl upset? Why didn't she cry? The eye injury soon got better, but doctors realised that Ashlyn had a very unusual medical condition: she couldn't feel any pain.

C This condition is very rare: only about a hundred people a year in the USA are born with it, and many of them die because of it. Pain is a natural warning: when you're ill or injured, your body hurts and this tells you there's a problem. People who can't feel pain often die young because when they break a bone or have a problem with their heart, they just don't realise.

D The first few years of Ashlyn's life were very difficult. She often tripped and injured herself. Once, she broke her ankle and didn't know, so she didn't stop running. At school, Ashlyn needed a lot of attention to keep her safe. For example, in the playground, one teacher watched Ashlyn all the time. When other children fell over, the teachers could ask, 'Does it hurt?' But of course, with Ashlyn, it was not so simple, and the teachers had to search for cuts, bruises or other injuries.

E When she was five, Ashlyn's story appeared in newspapers. Then she had invitations to appear on TV shows and became well known. Scientists studied the causes of her condition and found it was a genetic disorder. For some reason, pain signals do not reach her brain. Unfortunately, at the moment, there is no hope of a cure. And as Ashlyn knows, a life without pain is both difficult and dangerous.

Tell us about pranks you played on friends or family members!

Dave338

When I was about nine years old, I bought an enormous plastic spider from a joke shop. It looked very real and had really long legs. I couldn't wait to play a prank on my sister with it. One morning, I put it in the shower just before my big sister went into the bathroom. I waited outside the door. I heard a really loud scream and my sister ran out of the bathroom. I thought it was really funny, but for her it was a terrifying experience! When she found out that I put the spider there, she was really cross and chased me round the house. I feel bad about it now, because I didn't realise just how afraid of spiders my sister is. It took her ages to get over it because she was so shocked!

Last February, I sent my brother a Valentine's card. He's quite shy and he didn't have a girlfriend. In the card, I wrote 'Be my Valentine! With love from ???' and I tried to disguise my handwriting. When he opened it, he looked carefully at the writing, and I thought for a moment he realised it was from me. But there was a girl in his class who he liked, and he thought the card was from her. He seemed really pleased about the card. In fact, he decided to ask her out, and now they're going out! Eventually, he mentioned the card to her and she said she didn't send it. He immediately suspected me, so I owned up. He was a bit cross, but he forgave me because of the happy ending.

- 3 Read the Reading Strategy. Then read the text, focusing on each gap and thinking about what might happen next.

1-21

A dream holiday turned into a nightmare for an American brother and sister called Dan and Kate Suski. They were enjoying a fishing trip in the Caribbean, near the stunning island of St Lucia, when their boat sank, leaving them and their captain to fight for their lives.

The fishing trip began well enough. The weather wasn't brilliant, but Dan wasn't complaining: he had a huge fish on his line! He was trying to pull it onto the boat and Kate was helping him.

But then, the captain realised there was a problem. Water was coming into the cabin and the boat was sinking fast. The captain used his radio to send a message for help. Then he shouted to the Suskis, 'Jump out! Jump out!' They were about 15 km from land.

The captain told the Suskis to wait with him in the water. Help was coming. The weather was now bright, but they were wearing life jackets. After an hour, the captain and the Suskis lost each other, and there was no sign of rescue. They were both thinking the same terrifying thought: sharks!

25 A plane and a helicopter appeared in the sky, but nobody saw Dan and Kate in the water. Hours passed and night came. The Suskis swam for fourteen hours. Then, in the moonlight, they saw some cliffs. They were only a few metres from land! 30 The waves were breaking against sharp rocks; it was too dangerous. So Kate and Dan swam past the cliffs. By now, they were exhausted. Eventually, they reached a sandy beach. 4

Then they started to look for a town or village. On the way they picked and ate green bananas. Dan said later that it was the worst and best food of his life. After three hours, they met a young farm worker. He also gave them some bad news: the captain was lost at sea.

40 Dan and Kate Suski spent a few days in hospital. Their story appeared in news programmes around the world. And there was one final piece of astonishing news: the captain also survived. A rescue boat found him after 23 hours in the water!

4 Match sentences A–G with gaps 1–5 in the text. There are two extra sentences. Do any of the sentences match your ideas from exercise 3?

- A So Dan and Kate started to swim as fast as they could towards land.
 B The captain helped them as they climbed onto dry land.
 C He gave them water and food, and stayed with them until the police arrived.
 D So they did, and a few minutes later, the boat disappeared under the waves.
 E Out of the water at last, they lay down and rested.
 F But the sharks swam away after a few minutes.
 G But they couldn't get out of the water here.

Hi Bess,

I'm having a party on the beach to celebrate the end of term. It's on Sunday 20 July and starts at 3 p.m.

In the afternoon, we're going to try two different water-sports: jet-skiing and kite surfing. It's going to be a lot of fun!

In the evening, we're having a BBQ on the beach, with loads of food and music too. Please let me know if you can come.

Lisa

PS My dad is doing the BBQ, so you don't have to bring anything

Lost in Australia

When eighteen-year-old British student Sam Woodhead left college, he dreamed of joining the army – but he decided to have a gap year and go travelling first. Sam was already a keen long-distance runner and was very fit and healthy, but he thought backpacking in Australia was great training for his future.

In December 2012, Sam arrived in Central Queensland and found a job on a cattle farm. The farm was in the middle of the countryside, and Sam was enjoying his life there. One Tuesday morning, only eight days after his arrival, he decided to go for a run. But Sam made some mistakes. He took a heavy backpack but only one bottle of water. He also didn't have a route, and he didn't know the landscape. After only two hours, he finished his water and realised he was lost. The temperature was close to 40°C and he was soon exhausted. After four or five hours, he decided to stop and spend the night in the outback.

The next morning, Sam didn't report for work. His employers checked his room. His backpack and running shoes were gone, but his mobile and wallet were there. They called the rescue services and then they called Sam's family in England. The rescue services sent helicopters to the area to try to find Sam, but there were a lot of trees and plants in the area so it was difficult for the pilots to see a person on the ground.

Meanwhile, Sam was trying to find his way back. He made an SOS emergency signal on the ground from all the clothes in his backpack, including a pair of colourful shorts. Then, on Friday morning, Sam heard two helicopters flying over him. He shouted and waved his arms, but of course they didn't see him, and they couldn't hear him because their engines were too noisy. Then, in the afternoon, a third helicopter flew right over the SOS signal. At first, the pilot didn't see anything, but the wind from the helicopter's engine picked up Sam's shorts, and the pilot suddenly spotted them. He searched the area again, and at last he found the missing student only four or five kilometres from the cattle farm. Sam went to a hospital in the nearby town, Longreach, to recover. He was lucky to be alive!

role-playing games sports games

- 2 Read the text. Does the game sound interesting to you? Why? / Why not?

Anno 2070 is a video game set in the year 2070. Many cities are now under the ocean. There aren't any countries or continents, but there are a lot of islands. Players have to build new cities. There are two main groups of characters: the Tycoons and the Ecos. As a player, you can choose to be in either group. Anno 2070 is not a combat game, but there are a few conflicts between the two groups and there are some important differences between them. The Tycoons build cities quickly and earn a lot of money. But their lifestyle causes a lot of pollution, and there are not many trees or plants on their islands. In contrast, the Ecos build 'green' cities but their progress is slow. They don't use any coal or oil so there is not much pollution on their islands. The inhabitants eat healthy food and even have a little time for some hobbies, like listening to music. The aim of the game is to create your own world. How many cities can you build? How much energy do they all need? Can you grow any food? Can you complete any special missions? It depends how well you play the game!

You must do more exercise. (That's my strong opinion) have to often expresses an external obligation.
You have to wear a helmet. (It's the law)
- b mustn't and don't have to do NOT have the same meaning. don't have to = needn't, but mustn't means 'it is prohibited'.

Negative adjective prefixes

I can form and use adjectives with negative prefixes.

- 1 Read the notices. What are they warning you not to do?

- 2 Read the views of some teenagers. Who thinks illegally downloading things is not a problem? Who thinks it is as serious as any other crime?

To download or not to download?

DVDs and computer games are so expensive. It's unsurprising that people download them illegally. But it's unfair on the small, independent companies. Mark

It's the same as stealing from a shop. It's simply dishonest and unacceptable. Samantha

You're very unlikely to get caught. That's why people do it. Harry

It's like an invisible crime. You can't see the victim. That's why many people don't feel bad about it. Joe

I have no sympathy for the big film and music companies – they make a lot of money, so I think illegal downloading is OK. Hannah

LEARN THIS! Negative prefixes: un-, in-, im-, ir-, il- and dis-

The prefixes un-, in-, im-, ir-, il- and dis- are negative. When they come before an adjective, they make its meaning opposite certain – uncertain patient – impatient honest – dishonest responsible – irresponsible

Video games and health

I can understand a text about video games and their health effects.

1 SPEAKING Look at the headlines.

Do you think playing computer games is bad for your health? Why? / Why not?

2 Read the text. How many different video games does the writer mention by name? What are they?

Teenager dies after playing video game for 40 hours without eating or sleeping (Daily Mirror)

Playing computer games encourages obesity (Daily Mail)

Overload of screen time 'causes depression in children' (Independent)

Why video games are good for your health

1.32 Many people assume that video games have a negative effect on young people. A lot of time in front of a screen is bad for the mind and the body, they believe. Newspaper headlines often express the same opinion – and combat games cause the most concern because of the violence. But is there any evidence for this view? According to a report in American Psychologist, the truth is not so simple. Playing video games is sometimes good for children's education, health and social skills.

Research shows that video games can actually improve certain mental skills. This is especially true for combat games. These games teach players to think about objects in three dimensions and this makes them better at studying science, technology, engineering and maths. Other types of video game do not usually provide these benefits.

However, other types of video game can have other positive effects. In 2013, scientists did some research into the effect of role-playing games (RPGs) on children. The research showed that when children spend a lot of time playing RPGs, they get better grades at school than children who do not play them. Other research showed that playing any kind of video game, including violent games, improves children's creativity. But using a computer or smartphone for emails or other tasks does not provide this benefit.

Quick and simple games like Angry Birds can improve players' mood and prevent them from feeling anxious. This emotional benefit is important, the report suggests. Feeling relaxed and happy is good for your health. The report also describes another emotional benefit of video games: they teach children how to react well to failure. In video games, players continually fail and try again. This makes them emotionally strong in real life.

Video games can improve social skills too, the report says. More than 70% of gamers play with a friend, not alone, and millions of people take part in huge online games like Minecraft and Farmville. The players learn useful social skills: how to lead a group, how to work together and how to make decisions. Overall, the report does not deny that some video games can have negative effects; but it is important to think about the benefits too. And remember: you mustn't believe everything you read in the newspapers!

Dear Jake,

Thanks for your letter and sorry I didn't reply sooner.

I went to see a great film at the cinema last weekend – Iron Man 3. I went with my friend Paddy because he loves the Iron Man films. It isn't a new film, but it was definitely worth seeing again. The special effects are amazing and it also has a clever plot with lots of twists. There are some funny lines in the script too.

After the film, we met some other friends at a noodle bar in town. It was fun, but I didn't really like the food. It was very spicy!

Do you fancy going to the cinema next week? They're having a season of action films, including all the Batman series. Let me know and I'll book the tickets!

Anyway, I'd better go now. Ring me and let me know about the cinema

Love,

Andy

Comparison

I can make comparisons.

- 1 SPEAKING Work in pairs. Do you know what a shooting star is? Compare your ideas.
- Read part 1 of the text. Check your ideas from exercise 1.
- Complete the table with comparative adjectives from part 1 of the text.

Short adjective	Comparative	Rule
small	1	+ -er
large	2	+ -r
early	3	-y > -ier
big	4	double consonant + -er
Long adjective	Comparative	Rule
powerful	5	more + adjective
Irregular adjective	Comparative	Rule
far	6
good	better	(no rules)
bad	worse

- Read the Learn this! box. Then find examples of each rule (a–d) in part 1 of the text.

LEARN THIS! Comparative forms

- We use than to make comparisons.
Greece is hotter than the UK.
- We use not as ... as to make negative comparisons.
It isn't as warm as yesterday.
- We use as ... as to say two things are equal.
Yesterday, London was as hot as Athens.
- We use far or much to make a comparison stronger.
Lipsa is far / much hotter than Canada.

- Read the Look out! box. Complete part 2 of the text with the comparative form of the words in brackets.

➡ Grammar Builder 4B page 130

LOOK OUT! little – less

Some quantifiers also have comparative forms.
few – fewer much / many – more

- Complete the sentences with the correct form of the words in brackets.

- My brothers often fight, but Tom is much stronger than Nathan (Tom / much / strong / Nathan) so he usually wins.
- Delhi is bigger than Mexico City but (it / not as / large) Tokyo
- The Chelyabinsk explosion (much / small) than the Tunguska Event.
- Occasionally, hail stones can (be / big / as) tennis balls!
- A hurricane (much / powerful) an ordinary storm.

Part 1

On a clear night, you can often see meteors – space rocks – as they fall towards the Earth. Each rock is smaller than an apple, but they look as bright as stars in the night sky, so people call them 'shooting stars'. Larger meteors are much rarer, but their effects are far more spectacular. In 2013, a meteor exploded in the sky above the city of Chelyabinsk in Russia. The explosion was more powerful than the 1945 Hiroshima atomic bomb, but its effect was not as devastating as the bomb because the meteor exploded much further from the ground. Scientists compared the Chelyabinsk meteor to an earlier – and far bigger – explosion: the Tunguska Event.

Part 2

The Tunguska Event of 1908 was ¹ (far) from a city so ² (few) people saw it, but it was much ³ (powerful) than the one in Chelyabinsk. It destroyed more than 80 million trees in the Siberian forest, so it's lucky it was not ⁴ (close) to a town or city. The night sky became ⁵ (bright) than normal for a few days, and people a hundred kilometres away could read a newspaper outdoors even at midnight. Most scientists believe it was a meteor explosion, but there are some ⁶ (unusual) theories too. Perhaps it was a UFO!

- Write questions beginning Which ... ? Use the comparative form of the adjectives.

- dangerous / a blizzard / a thunderstorm / ?
Which is more dangerous, a blizzard or a thunderstorm?
- beautiful / snowflake / rainbow / ?
- holiday venue / good / the mountains / the beach / ?
- city / get / little snow / Warsaw / Moscow / ?
- for you personal / temperature / bad / -5°C / 35°C / ?
- type of weather / frightening / hail / lightning / ?
- country / rainy / Spain / England / ?
- in your country / month / hot / July / August / ?

- 8 SPEAKING Work in pairs. Ask and answer the questions in exercise 7. Do you agree with your partner?

Which is more dangerous, a blizzard or a thunderstorm?

The wave was over 40 m high and was large enough to travel 10 km inland in some places. The worst damage was in coastal towns where the land was flat. GLOBAL WARMING

FACT FILE

- ▶ The Earth is heating up. The average ¹ temperature is 0.75°C higher now than it was 100 years ago.
- ▶ When we burn ² _____ fuels, they give off ³ _____ gases like carbon dioxide (CO₂). This causes ⁴ _____ warming.
- ▶ We have cut down over 50% of the Earth's ⁵ _____ forests in the last 60 years. These are important because they remove CO₂ from the atmosphere and add oxygen. They are also home to over half of the world's plant and animal species.
- ▶ Some scientists believe that by 2050, about 35% of all plant and animal species could die out because of ⁶ _____ change.
- ▶ ⁷ _____ levels are rising and the polar ⁸ _____ caps are melting.
- ▶ Scientists say that fossil fuels like coal and gas may run out by the year 3000. So we need to develop alternatives, such as ⁹ _____ energy and nuclear energy.

LEARN THIS! Phrasal verbs

- a Some phrasal verbs have a meaning which is similar to the meaning of the main verb (e.g. to use up = to use all of something).
- b Other phrasal verbs have a meaning which is completely different from the meaning of the main verb (e.g. to carry on = to continue).

- 3 Read the Learn this! box. Find five phrasal verbs in the fact file. Which have a similar meaning to the main verb and which have a completely different meaning?

- 4 Read what two students say about global warming and climate change. Who is more worried about the situation?

Emma

We are using up fossil fuels like coal and gas very fast. If we carry on like this for much longer, we will have no fuel left and it will be impossible to stop climate change. We must change the way we live and start looking after the environment. Politicians must wake up and take action! We can't put it off!

Tom

It's impossible to come up with a solution that everyone is happy with. We can't just close down all the coal and gas power stations. We rely on fossil fuels for most of our energy. And it's difficult to persuade people to change the way they live. How many people will give up their cars? Not many! We should just learn to live with climate change, not try to stop it.

- 5 Find nine phrasal verbs in the texts in exercise 4. Match five of them with the definitions below. Check the meaning of the others in the dictionary. Are the meanings similar to the main verbs or different?

- 35 Eventually, Ewa came out of the storm cloud and saw a small farm on the ground. She headed towards it and landed safely. She fell to the ground and rolled over, too weak and confused to call for help. When 40 her team reached her, she was 60 km away from the place ⁹ ____. She was covered in ice – but alive!

'Most people do not take global warming seriously enough.' Do you agree?

Join the debate. A prize for the best article!

ben_the_climber

Global warming is probably the most serious threat we face, and we should all be worried about it. And indeed, it seems to me that most people take the issue very seriously. These days, people take a lot of care to recycle plastic, paper, glass and other materials. If recycling bins are available, they use them. What is more, they often choose to walk or cycle somewhere in order to reduce carbon emissions.

There are people who believe that it is normal for the temperature of the Earth to go up and down. They don't believe that humans are causing global warming, so they don't believe that humans need to alter their behaviour. Other people may just be too selfish to lead a green lifestyle. Nevertheless, the majority of people believe the evidence and do whatever they can to combat climate change.

Writing Strategy

When you are expressing your opinions and the opinions of others, give your text a clear structure. For example:

- In one paragraph, give your opinion with two or three arguments that support it.
- In another paragraph, give the opposing view with one or two arguments supporting it. You can then say why you disagree with the opposing view (a counter-argument).

- Read the Writing Strategy and answer the questions.

- In paragraph 1 of Ben's article, how many arguments does he give in support of his opinion?
- In paragraph 2, how many arguments does he give in support of the opposing view?
- Does he give a counter-argument?

- 2 Read the text. Are the sentences true or false? Write T or F.

Hurricane in Jamaica

I was staying with my aunt and uncle in Jamaica when the hurricane came. They've lived in Jamaica all their lives so they know about hurricanes. I, on the other hand, was born in Britain because my parents came here when they were first married. They bought a house in London, found work, and my sister and I were born a few years later. Our parents always tell wonderful stories about Jamaica and we go there as often as we can. We love staying with our aunt and uncle in the north of the island. Last year, my sister started university and my parents were busy working, so they said I could go on my own, which meant the visit was even more exciting than usual.

I went in December, because between October and mid-December the weather isn't as hot, but it's still lovely. However, it's also the hurricane season during those months, so you have to watch out for that. Luckily, my aunt and uncle heard the warning on the radio before I arrived, and as a result, there was already lots of extra food and drink in the house. I was glad about that, as one of my favourite things about being in Jamaica is the food!

As soon as we saw the first signs of the hurricane, we closed the windows and the doors, and then we waited. The storm was a Category 1 hurricane, with heavy rain and winds of about 125 km/h. I played games and chatted with my cousins to pass the time, and we ate lots of food. But I remember the sound of the wind crashing around the house, day and night, and I felt quite scared. My aunt told me there was nothing to worry about and that they'd had worse storms than that, so I felt a bit better. While we waited, we listened to the news on the radio; there was some flooding on the roads and on farms, and some damage to buildings. The storm began on Monday, and then by Wednesday it was moving out to sea. So we weren't indoors for very long really, and afterwards, there was sunshine again!

The Avengers

Superheroes are very popular: people love films like The Amazing Spider Man, Batman Begins, X-Men, Thor and Captain America. All of these films are great, but in my opinion The Avengers is ¹ superhero film. I like The Avengers because it's different. Superheroes are usually lonely people – they save the world on their own. ² isn't how things work in The Avengers.

Loki is the bad character in the film, and he's ³ Thor's brother. The film begins when Loki and his powerful army steal the Tesseract. This is a source of energy, and Loki can use it to destroy the Earth. Nick Fury is the good character, and he's also the leader of an organisation called S.H.I.E.L.D. Nick knows that he isn't strong ⁴ to fight against Loki – so he creates a team of superheroes. Now Iron Man, the Hulk, Thor, Captain America, Hawkeye and Black Widow are working together! How can they fail?

There are ⁵ characters in The Avengers, but they each have a great story and great scenes to play too. The final battle scene between the superhero team and Loki's army is the ⁶ scene in the film. The script is very clever too, and there are ⁷ funny lines for all the characters.

The ⁸ of putting superheroes together was amazing, and audiences loved it. The film made $1.51 billion worldwide and received many awards.

- 2 Read the text. Why is Andrew going to the USA?

Home Entertainment Music Health Technology Politics

Is university education overvalued?

Eighteen-year-old Andrew Brackin has received $100,000 to go and live in San Francisco, California, for two years. But there is a catch. During that time, he can't go to university or study. Instead, he has to develop his own business, a website that helps charities to raise money.

The money comes from Peter Thiel, multi-millionaire and co-creator of PayPal. Every year, Thiel selects 20 students from thousands of applicants. He only chooses those with the best business ideas. Andrew got through the semi-finals, which involved a Skype call, and then flew to San Francisco for the final. There, he had to present his ideas to an audience of important business people from Silicon Valley.

Thiel is an ex-student himself – he went to the BRIT School in London – and he has strong views on university education. He feels that many young people apply for degree and postgraduate courses without really thinking about what they want to do afterwards. They overestimate the benefits of university education and undervalue the benefits of working in business.

- 3 Read the Learn this! box. Then read the text in exercise 2 again and find words with seven of the prefixes in the table.

Back in 2012, Andrew Johnson was near the end of his History & Photography degree in Chicago. He planned to apply to film school after graduation, rather than look for a job. But then his dad noticed an advertisement for a job with toy manufacturer Lego. Andrew, who was already a Lego fan, sent in an application. It included a video of himself making models. The company loved it and invited him to take part in an unusual interview. He had to compete against seven other finalists in a model building test. Andrew won, and as a result, they offered him a job: he joined the team at Legoland Discovery Centre in Illinois as a Master Model Builder. He meets visitors and helps to give them exciting new ideas. Perhaps one day he'll go to film school, but for now, he's happy. 'Lego was always just a hobby, but now I can do what I love and get paid for it,' said Andrew in an interview.

Do you find it difficult to get out of bed sometimes, especially on frosty winter mornings? Well, imagine having a job where you don't have to. Jo Unsworth works as a duvet tester for John Lewis, a British department store. She has the job of finding the most comfortable duvets in the world to sell in their shops. Jo has a degree in textiles, so she can recognise good quality. But the real test of a duvet is sleeping under it. 'It's probably the only career where it's OK to fall asleep while you're at work,' Jo says. She often can't believe how lucky she is to have her 'dream job!' What is more, she finds it rewarding: 'If I do my job properly, hundreds of other people sleep better. It's brilliant!'

Some film providers like Netflix employ people to watch new films and TV series from the comfort of their own home! Their job is to make a note of what type of film it is (horror, rom-com, etc.) and what age group and type of person might like it. The film provider can then recommend it to their members. Joe Mason finished his degree in film studies about two years ago and didn't know what to do next. Then he read an article about film taggers. 'It sounded like a fantastic job so I did some research online and wrote to Netflix,' said Joe. At first they weren't interested, but when Joe told them he speaks fluent French – his mum is French – they gave him a job. He watches French films and TV programmes. 'It's a great job because I can work when I want. I can take a day off if I like and work at the weekend instead.' The only problem with the job is that Joe can't choose what he wants to watch. 'Sometimes I have to watch 15 episodes of rubbish! But I shouldn't complain really.'

Dear Jenny,

We've been in Florence for three days. What an amazing city! The weather hasn't been very good, so we've been to a lot of museums and art galleries. I've seen Michelangelo's David and hundreds of beautiful paintings. I've bought you a souvenir. Have you missed me?

Love, Ella

P.S. I had a text from Dylan. He's passed his driving test!

Dear Jenny,

We've been in Florence since Monday. The weather's terrible, so we haven't done much. In fact, we've spent most of our time in museums. I've seen about five hundred paintings and I've had enough! Ella hasn't asked me what I want to do. How long have we been friends? Unbelievable!

Love, Madison

AIR MAIL

- Look at the photo. Can you identify the city and / or country?
- Read the postcards and find the answer to the question in exercise 1. Who is enjoying the holiday more, Ella or Madison?

LEARN THIS! Present perfect

We use the present perfect:

- a to give news, when we do not say exactly when the event happened. Guess what? I've won a competition!
- b to talk about events during a period of time (e.g. a holiday) that is still continuing. I'm in Paris. I've visited a museum but I haven't seen the Eiffel Tower.
- c to ask how long a situation has existed. How long have you been in Spain?
- d with for or since to say how long a situation has existed. We use for with a period of time and since to say when it started. We've been in Spain for a week / since Tuesday.

- Read the Learn this! box. Find at least one example of rules a-d in the postcards.

LOOK OUT!

We often use been (instead of gone) as the past participle of go. It means the person has gone and come back.

She's been to a museum. (She's now back at the hotel.)

She's gone to a museum. (She's still there.)

- Read the Look out! box. Then find all the examples of been in the postcards and decide whether each one is from the verb be or the verb go.

- Complete the phone conversation with the present perfect form of the verbs in brackets.

Contrast: past simple and present perfect

I can distinguish the use of the past simple and the present perfect.

Use the words below to help you.

- 3 Find all the examples of the present perfect and the past simple in the dialogue in exercise 2.

LEARN THIS! Past simple and present perfect contrast

- We use the present perfect to talk about an experience at any time in the past. The exact time of the experience is not stated.
I've read 'The Hobbit' three times.
Have you ever travelled by helicopter?
- We use the past simple to talk about a specific occasion in the past.
I watched a good film on TV last night.
Did you go to Newcastle last weekend?
- We often use the present perfect to ask and answer questions about an experience, and then use the past simple to give specific information about it.
'Have you ever been to the USA?'
'Yes, I have. I went to New York last winter.'

- 4 Read the Learn this! box. Why are some verbs in the dialogue in exercise 2 in the past simple and others in the present perfect? Use rules a–c to explain.

Can I see your boarding pass?

A nine-year-old boy managed to get on a plane without a ticket or boarding pass and fly from Minneapolis to Las Vegas. He didn't have to go through passport control as it was a domestic flight, but he managed to pass all the security checks without any problem.

The previous day, security cameras filmed him stealing suitcases from the baggage carousel in the arrivals hall and then ordering a meal in a restaurant in the terminal building. However, after the meal he told the waiter that he had to go to the toilet, and left the restaurant without paying. The following day he returned to the airport, walked through to the departure lounge and then boarded a plane. Apparently, he stayed close to another family as they passed through airport security.

On the plane, the cabin crew became suspicious of the small boy sitting alone in first class. A flight attendant contacted the Las Vegas police, who met the boy when the plane landed.

A Hilary Bradt: co-founder of a travel guide company

When I was fifteen, I went to stay with my penfriend in north Germany. It was my first trip abroad and the first without my parents, and I hated every minute of it. The worst moment was probably the time when I was alone in the house and somebody rang the doorbell. They rang it again and again – but I ignored it. Then I saw the visitor walking around the house looking through the windows. Frightened, I hid under the dining room table. That afternoon, Christina's mother came home from work and said, 'I needed to pick up some papers from the house today and I didn't have my key. I rang the bell. But you didn't hear me: 'Oh, I was in my room, I expect,' I said. 'Sorry!' My face went red, because she knew I was lying. I'm certain she saw me under the table.

B Kevin Rushby: writer

At sixteen, I hitch-hiked down to Cornwall in the south-west of England with a friend. We spent the holiday walking along the coastal path with a tent and a backpack, staying at campsites on the way. The weather was fantastic and the sea was beautiful. We had almost no money and lived on sandwiches and tea. One of the first things I learned was this: a fire and a mug of tea can make the world seem perfect. The second thing: spending more money does not mean having more fun. What really mattered was talking to people. I had to do lots of chatting, negotiating, discussing and questioning. Strangers could be very helpful and interesting, I discovered. They could also be dangerous, boring and stupid. It was up to me to judge them and decide – and that skill has been useful to me many times since then. I wrote it all down, but I've lost the notebook now, unfortunately.

- 4 Read the Reading Strategy. Then look at questions 1–5 in exercise 5. Find the underlined words in the text and explain why those options are not correct.

Reading Strategy

Do not assume that because a multiple-choice option contains words from the text, it is correct. Focus on meaning, not on individual words.

Treat each option as a true or false task in order to find the option that is true

C Terry Alderton: comedian

My friends and I were nineteen and on holiday in the coolest place in the world: Ibiza. On the first day, I fell asleep on the beach – with no sunscreen. My friends knew I was getting sunburned, but they didn't wake me up because they thought it was funny. When I woke up, I felt a little sore. Then I took off my sunglasses and my friends all fell on the floor, laughing. I had two clear white rings around my eyes! That night, we all went out dancing and of course I had to keep wearing the same sunglasses because of my sunburn. I wasn't enjoying myself, so I left before my friends. For some reason, I didn't want to wait for a bus back to our hotel, so I walked seven kilometres along busy roads. When I finally arrived, my friends were already there, sitting around the pool. I've never understood how they got there so quickly.

A holiday blog

I can write a holiday blog post.

Holiday BLOGSPOT

8.15 p.m. @Harry445

Hi, everyone! We arrived safely in Paris on Saturday evening. It was very windy and rainy, so the flight was a bit bumpy. Emma screamed when the plane landed! Hilarious, lol! The weather is much better now. Still cloudy, but it's stopped raining.

We've already been up the Eiffel Tower. We took the lift up, but walked back down the stairs. We've also walked down the Champs Elysées. The shops there are really expensive, so I didn't buy anything!! Yesterday we went on a boat trip on the river Seine and then visited the Louvre art gallery. We saw the Mona Lisa, which was a bit disappointing. It's tiny!

Tomorrow we are going to visit Disneyland. It isn't far from here. Can't wait! Then on Friday we're going shopping (but not on the Champs Elysées!) – I want to buy some souvenirs. We'll post another entry tomorrow when we're back from Disneyland.

9.04 p.m. @Emily99

Sorry I haven't posted since Friday! Arrived in Snowdonia two days ago with Joanna after a long, tiring journey by coach from London. There were roadworks on the motorway and an accident, so the journey took ten hours instead of six. We're staying in a small, comfortable hotel. It's near a river. The weather is sunny and dry and I can see hills and a beautiful waterfall from my window.

We've already been kayaking on the lake and abseiling on a cliff near the hotel. The kayaking was fun and the abseiling was fantastic, but a bit scary! Tomorrow we're going mountain biking. We're going to hire bikes from a shop in the nearest town. Really looking forward to it! Watch out for more blog entries in the next few days!

- 1 Look at the photos. Where would you prefer to go on holiday? Why?
- 2 Read the blog posts. Who has already done four things and has another two planned? Who has done two things and has another one planned?
- 3 Read the task below. Do both blog posts include all four points?

You are on holiday with your family. Write a blog post. Include information about:

- the journey to your holiday destination and where you are staying.
- the weather.
- some holiday activities you have done.
- something you plan to do in the next few days.

Writing Strategy

In informal style (e.g. in emails, blogs and postcards) we can omit sentence subjects I and we.

Must go now! Wish you were here!

With the present continuous, we can also omit the auxiliaries am and are.

Having a great time in Italy!

However, only do this once or twice in a text. Do not omit every instance of I and we.

- 4 Read the Writing Strategy. Find sentences where the writers have omitted the subject.

- 5 Rewrite the sentences, omitting the subject.

- 1 We have finally arrived!
- 2 I am looking forward to seeing you again.
- 3 I went up the Empire State Building yesterday.
- 4 We visited the Musée d'Orsay on Friday.
- 5 We are flying back tomorrow.

- 6 In the blog posts, find:

- 1 five words that describe weather.
- 2 five landscape features.
- 3 three outdoor activities.

- 7 VOCABULARY Complete the holiday activities below. They are all in the blog posts in exercise 2.

Holiday activities

- 1 go s _____ / k _____ / a _____ / m _____ b _____
- 2 take a b _____ t _____
- 3 go up a t _____
- 4 visit an a _____
- 5 hire a b _____
- 6 buy s _____

➡ Vocabulary Builder Holiday activities: page 120

- 8 Read the task in exercise 3 again. Make notes for each of the four points.
- 9 Write your blog post.

CHECK YOUR WORK

Have you ...

- included all four points in the task?
- used an appropriately informal style?
- checked the spelling and grammar?

Reading

Strategy

Read the text quickly, ignoring the gaps, to get a general idea of what it is about. Read the text again more slowly and try to think about what ideas might fill each gap. Ask yourself what pronouns you might expect to see. For example, if the previous sentence is describing a man, you might expect the next sentence to contain he, him or his.

1 Read the Strategy. Then read the text and predict what ideas and pronouns the gapped sentences might contain.

2 Read the text. Match sentences A–I with gaps 1–7 in the text. There are two extra sentences.

My trip to Delhi

Saturday

After two flights, I finally arrived in Delhi. ¹ It didn't take long, and I was soon driving through the streets to my small hotel. The owner was really kind and friendly. ² It was very clean and comfortable. I was really tired, so I read some of my tourist guide to India. ³

Sunday

I got up at about 8 o'clock and went down for breakfast.

⁴ Afterwards, I went out into Delhi. I found a taxi and went to my first tourist spot: the Shri Lakshmi Narain Temple.

⁵ Inside, I found a guide and learned a lot about the history of the beautiful building. After this, I went to Raj Ghat. This is the last resting place of Mahatma Gandhi. The gardens were very green and there were lots of trees, but the fountains were dry because of the heat. After this I was very tired and hot. ⁶

Later, when I felt better, I went for dinner at a restaurant. I had a dosa, which is a kind of pancake with curried potatoes and onions. Tomorrow, I'm going to visit Humayun's Tomb and the museum. I'm going to go to the markets and do some shopping too. ⁷ Then I'll probably catch a flight to Varanasi. It's a very famous historical place. I'll let you know what it's like!

- A It's going to be hotter tomorrow
- B I think I'll stay in Delhi for a few days.
- C I didn't feel like exploring any more, so I went back to my hotel for a rest.
- D He chatted for a bit and then showed me my room
- E That's why he met me at the airport.
- F I took off my shoes and went in with the other tourists.
- G I collected my luggage with no problems, left the airport and tried to find a taxi
- H It was a delicious meal of eggs, Indian breads and chutneys.
- I I fell asleep in the middle of an article about street food.

Listening

Strategy

Read each of the sentences carefully and underline the key words. This will give you an idea of the kind of recording you are likely to hear.

3 Read the Strategy. Then read sentences A–F in the task below and underline the key words.

A gives advice, getting a job

4 2.29 Listen to five people talking about jobs. Match sentences A–F with speakers 1–5. There is one extra sentence.

- A Get experience with your family _____
- B Have a fun job abroad. _____
- C Get all the information you need in advance. _____
- D Avoid problems at work. _____
- E Learn to work for yourself. _____
- F Learn different ways to perform. _____

Use of English

Strategy

When you read the text for the first time, think about what type of word is missing, e.g. a pronoun, a preposition, etc. Decide whether the word is part of a phrase, or a grammatical structure, or whether it is used on its own.

5 Complete the text with the words below. There are two extra words.

about after as before but for from that the to what who

Being a tour guide

If you want to be a guide in a museum or an art gallery, you have to train before you can lead any tours. You do not have to be a historian, ¹ teaching and public speaking experience can help you to get a position. It's best to look ² a voluntary position at first as this looks great on your CV. It can also help you get a paid museum job in ³ future. First, you should decide ⁴ kind of museum or gallery you want to work in. After ⁵, you should contact the person in charge of volunteers. They may want to speak with you, so ⁶ you go for an interview, do some research. Find out ⁷ the kind of exhibits they have and how long they've had them. If it's an art gallery, ⁸ are the most famous and popular artists? The people at the museum want confident, friendly people to work ⁹ tour guides. Remember ¹⁰ show this side of yourself at the interview.

Speaking

Strategy

A speaking task may ask you to role-play a conversation in which you have to make a choice between different options, e.g. which job to apply for, which holiday to go on, etc. During the conversation, make sure you use words like however, even though, although and nevertheless.

- 6 Read the Strategy and the phrases below. Compare the pictures which show two summer jobs. Which would you prefer and why? Make sentences to show how you feel about each.

I'm sure I'll ... even though ...

Although it's ..., I won't ...

The ... isn't very good. Nevertheless, ...

I might find the job ... However, ...

- 7 Work in pairs. Do the task below. Use the phrases from exercise 6 to help you.

You aren't sure what job to get when you finish school or university. Discuss the three options you've read about on a careers website. Decide which one each of you will aim for. Say why it would suit you.

- teacher
- shop manager
- start your own business

- 8 Summarise the decisions you made and your main reasons.

Writing

Buried treasure

In November 2013, James Howells started searching an enormous rubbish dump. He was looking for a computer hard drive which he had thrown away three months earlier. The hard drive contained 7,500 bitcoins (a virtual currency that people use online). He had bought the bitcoins for almost nothing in 2009, but by 2013 the value of a single bitcoin had risen to over $1,000. So, the value of Howells's collection had increased to $7.5 million.

In 2010, Howells, who works in IT, had taken his computer apart because he had spilled a drink on it. He had first kept the hard drive and had sold the other parts. When in 2013 he heard about the value of the virtual currency, it was too late. He had thrown the hard drive away! He had totally forgotten about the bitcoins. Howells never found the hard drive – and unfortunately, he hadn't saved any of his data.

1 Read the text. Where is Howells's hard drive? How much is it worth? Did he find it?

2 Look at the examples of the past perfect highlighted in the text in exercise 2. Find all the other examples. Complete rule a in the Learn this! box.

LEARN THIS! Past perfect

a We form the past perfect with ¹ _____ or ² _____ and the past participle

b We use the past perfect when we are already talking about past events and we want to talk about an even earlier event.

When I got to the classroom, the lesson had started.

c We often use the past perfect with after or when.
When I got to the bus station, the bus had already left.
After I'd called Maggie, I watched a film on TV.

3 Read rules b and c in the Learn this! box. Explain the difference in meaning between the sentences below.

- When he threw away the computer, Howells forgot about the bitcoins
- When he threw away the computer, Howells had forgotten about the bitcoins.

4 Complete the sentences. Use the past perfect form of the verbs in brackets. Remember that go can have two past participles. (See Look out! box on page 64.)

- After I _____ (leave) the newspaper's, I realised I _____ (forget) to buy a paper.
- I didn't know that deli was so expensive. I never _____ (buy) anything there before
- When I got to the shopping centre, most of the shops _____ a ready _____ (close)
- We didn't have any bread because I _____ (not go) to the baker's
- My sister wasn't there when I got home because she _____ (go) to the cinema.

5 USE OF ENGLISH Rewrite each pair of sentences as one sentence, using after.

- I bought a lottery ticket. Then I went home.
After I'd bought a lottery ticket, I went home
- I went to the cosmetics store. Then I went to the hairdresser's.
- I paid for the flowers. Then I left the shop.
- Jim did some shopping. Then he caught the bus home.
- My dad left university. Then he became a teacher.
- The chemist's closed down. Then a charity shop opened in the same building

6 Complete the text with the phrases below. Use the past perfect.

buy his ticket not check the numbers lose lose his ticket win the lottery take the lottery company

When Martyn Tott learned that he ¹ _____, he was, of course, delighted. He ² _____ months earlier at his local newspaper's. He ³ _____ at the time, but he knew he was the winner because he always chose the same six numbers. But there was a problem. He ⁴ _____! Martyn Tott's computer records proved that he was the winner, but the lottery company refused to pay him without a ticket. Two years later, he was almost penniless. He ⁵ _____ to court, but ⁶ _____ the battle. He said he wished he had never played the lottery!

7 Read the sentences below. Then think of explanations for the situation or event using the past perfect. What had happened?

- A man was holding a lottery ticket and smiling
- The car drove onto the pavement and hit a lamp post.
- A cleaner found a wallet under the seats in the cinema.
- A security guard stopped a woman outside the department store.
- The boy opened the envelope, read the letter and started to dance around.

8 SPEAKING Take turns to ask and answer questions about the sentences in exercise 7.

Why was the man smiling? | He had won some money.

Verb + infinitive or -ing form

I can identify and use different verb patterns.

- 1 SPEAKING Describe the picture. What do you think the woman is doing?
- 2 Read the text. Then answer the questions.
 - 1 What is 'showrooming'? Have you or someone you know ever showroomed?
 - 2 Do you prefer to buy things in shops or online? Why?
 - 3 Should you expect to pay more for goods in a shop than on a website? Why? / Why not?
 - 4 What would you do if you had to pay to look around a shop?

That'll be $5, please.

A health food shop in Adelaide, Australia, has decided to charge customers $5 for 'just looking'. The problem is that customers keep coming into the shop and leaving without buying anything. 'They pretend to be interested in a product and ask for advice,' says Kate Reeves, the shop owner, 'but they usually don't buy anything.'

This new phenomenon is called 'showrooming'. People visit a shop, examine a product, and then buy it online, where it is cheaper. Kate says she spends hours every day talking about products with customers. 'I can't stand working and not getting paid,' she says. 'I refuse to work for free!'

Everyone avoids paying more than they have to, but customers fail to realise that Kate's prices are mostly the same as in larger stores and on websites. They prefer to shop elsewhere as they expect to find the product at a lower price. 'If customers choose to buy something, I return the $5 fee,' says Kate.

Many shops face the same problem and some may end up introducing a similar charge. The danger is that it risks putting customers off. But Kate in Adelaide says it has made no difference to her business.

LEARN THIS! Verb patterns

- Some verbs are followed by the infinitive of another verb.
Do you want to go out? She hopes to be a teacher.
- Some verbs are followed by the -ing form of another verb.
I fancy going out. He keeps on interrupting.
- Some verbs are followed by either the infinitive or the -ing form.

Dictionary Skills Strategy

Entries for verbs in learner's dictionaries will show you patterns the verb is used in. They may show the pattern like this at the start of the entry: suggest (doing), want (to do) or give an example within the entry: She suggested eating out.

- 4 DICTIONARY WORK Read the Dictionary Strategy. Then study the dictionary entries below and answer the questions.

- 1 Which verb a) takes an infinitive, b) takes an -ing form, and c) can take either?

Reading Strategy

When you do a task with gapped sentences, study the sentence after each gap and look for any connections with the missing sentence. For example, if it begins with but, there is a contrast. Other words suggest other types of connection:

- similarity: too
- cause / result: so
- a different option: or

- 3 Read the Reading Strategy. Then look at the underlined words in the sentences after the gaps in the text. What kind of connection do they imply: contrast, similarity, cause / result, or a different option?

- 4 Read the text. Match sentences A–G with gaps 1–5 in the text. Use your answers from exercise 3 to help you. There are two extra sentences.

- A Back in 2005, cloud storage was quite a new idea
 B His success in business has brought him an enormous amount of money.
 C He only goes to expensive restaurants if an important customer wants to eat there.
 D For two and a half years, he spent nearly all his time at his office.
 E Most people his age would lead an extravagant lifestyle if they had so much money.

Aaron Levie

loves to eat tinned spaghetti, drives a six-year-old car, and has business meetings at a takeaway. He lives in an ordinary apartment, doesn't take holidays and, at the age of 27, says his biggest luxury is his smartphone.¹ However, as co-founder and CEO of Box, a successful IT company, he is worth about $100 million. And he works very hard for his money: most days, he does not leave the office until after midnight. 'I work so many hours because I love what I do. I'm incredibly excited about the business,' says Levie.

When Levie and his childhood friend Dylan Smith started their company in 2005, they had not even finished their university degrees. Box grew fast because it offered a better way of storing data, and soon they had contracts with many of the biggest companies in the USA. Levie left university without finishing his course.

Like most new businesses, Box did not bring in much income at the start. Levie paid himself a salary of only $500 a month, and lived off tinned spaghetti and instant noodles.² Sometimes he even slept there too. When Box began, Levie and Smith looked for funding.

³ For that reason, nobody wanted to risk lending them money. They wrote letter after letter but could not find any investors. Eventually, a well-known entrepreneur called Mark Cuban agreed to put money into Box. Once he had decided to do that, others followed and the business grew quickly.

That was eight years ago. Now, Box has grown a lot and so have its profits, making Levie a multi-millionaire.

⁴ But Levie says that it doesn't interest him. 'I'm certainly not into money. I don't live in the office - now I have an apartment six minutes' drive away - but there is no enormous house up in the hills.'⁵ Otherwise, he has lunch meetings in burger bars. 'And I still really like tinned spaghetti. I'd be happy if I had it every day!'

- 8 SPEAKING Work in pairs. Turn to page 142 and do the extra speaking task. Use the phrases in exercises 2, 3 and 7 to help you.

An opinion essay

I can write an essay suggesting how to spend €1 million.

- 1 SPEAKING Read the task. In pairs, think of three possible things you could spend the money on.

If you had €1 million to spend but couldn't spend any of it on yourself, what would you do with it? Write an essay and include three ideas. Give reasons for your choices and say what effect the money would have.

I'd give money to a charity which helps ...

I'd buy ... for ...

I'd give money to ... so they could ...

- 2 Read the essay. Does it mention any of your ideas from exercise 1? Which of the ideas in the essay do you think is best? Why?

If I had €1 million, it would be easy to find three good ways to use the money. It would be a great way to help people who deserve it.

First of all, I would donate half of the money to the children's hospital in my town. They're raising money to build bedrooms for visiting families. They could probably start building immediately if I gave them half a million euros.

Secondly, I would make a donation to my local primary school to buy sports equipment. As I see it, more sport at school would mean healthier children. Furthermore, the teachers would find it far easier to teach sports and PE if they had new equipment.

Finally, I would buy a new bike for my brother. He borrows mine all the time, even though he's got one, because mine is better. If he had a new bike, he wouldn't do that!

So to sum up, I would use the money to make life better for the families of children in hospital, to improve facilities at my school and to buy a gift for my brother.

- 3 Answer the questions about the essay.

- How many paragraphs are there?
- In which paragraph does the writer mention all three ways of spending the money?
- In which paragraph does the writer explain who would get half the money, and why?
- In which two paragraphs does the writer explain who would get the rest of the money, and why?
- In which paragraph does the writer paraphrase the main point of the essay?

Writing Strategy

In your writing, avoid starting too many sentences which repeat the same words. Remember that you can:

- use a variety of expressions for introducing opinions (It seems to me ..., In my opinion ..., etc.) and for making additional points (Moreover ..., Furthermore ..., etc.).
- start conditional sentences with the if clause or the main clause.
- use concession clauses (although ..., even though ...) at the beginning or end of a sentence.

- 4 Read the Writing Strategy. How well does the writer in exercise 2 follow this advice? Can you find ...

- an expression for introducing an opinion?
- an expression for making an additional point?
- a conditional sentence beginning with the if clause?
- a conditional sentence beginning with the main clause?
- a concession clause?

- 5 Imagine you had €1 million to spend but could not spend any of it on yourself. Think of three ways to spend it. Make notes and complete the table below. Then compare ideas in pairs.

Choices (1–3)	Effect the money would have	Reason(s) for choice
1 (50%)
2 (25%)
3 (25%)

- 6 Write an essay using your plan from exercise 5. Include an introduction and a conclusion like the model in exercise 2.

- Say what you would spend half the money on.
- Choose two more ways to spend the rest.
- Explain what effect the money would have.
- Give reasons for your choices.

CHECK YOUR WORK

I have you ...

- checked the spelling and grammar?
- followed your plan carefully?
- used a variety of different ways to begin sentences?

Reported speech (1)

I can report what other people have said.

1 SPEAKING Look at the photo. What do you think is going to happen? Why do you think that?

2 Read the text. Why did most listeners think that the crime was a joke?

A radio reporter went onto the streets of London yesterday to do a report about crime and ended up learning more than he expected. He stopped a passer-by and said that he was doing a story on street crime in the area. The man said there was a lot of crime there. He said he had seen a mugging earlier that day. The reporter then said there weren't many police officers on the streets. The man said he didn't want more police around. Then he took the reporter's phone and ran off! The reporter, sounding upset, said that the man had stolen his phone. However, most listeners thought it was all a joke!

3 2.41 Listen to the dialogue. Complete the words the reporter and the man actually say. Then find the parts of the text in exercise 2 where they are reported.

Reporter Hello. I¹ _____ (do) a report on street crime in the area.

Man There² _____ (be) a lot of crime here. I³ _____ (see) a mugging earlier today

Reporter But there⁴ _____ (not be) many police officers on the streets.

Adjective suffixes

I can understand and use different adjective suffixes.

DISAPPEARING MONEY

One of the most mysterious unsolved bank robberies took place at the First National Bank of Chicago, USA. One Friday in 1977, an employee at the bank put $4 million in cash in a bank vault. When another employee came to make the weekly check on the vault, she discovered that only $3 million was there. A million dollars had simply disappeared. The robbery appeared in all the national newspapers. Because nobody had broken into the vault, the police suspected it was an 'inside job', and were at first hopeful that they would recover the money quickly. 'It's foolish to rob your own bank,' said one police officer. 'You are almost certain to get caught, unless you are very lucky.' Because most robbers are in a hurry, they are usually careless and leave clues, but the police could find nothing to identify the thief or thieves. The FBI were suspicious of one employee, but they didn't have enough reliable evidence to arrest him. Four years later, police discovered $2,300 of the money in a drugs raid, but have never found the thief or the rest of the money.

- Look at the title and the photo. What crime do you think the text is about?

Dictionary Skills Strategy

If you want to find out how to form an adjective from a noun or verb, look up the noun or verb in your dictionary. If the adjective does not appear in the same entry as the noun / verb, it will usually come as a separate entry after, e.g. danger followed by dangerous. But if the spelling changes, the adjective entry might be first, e.g. beautiful followed by beauty.

- DICTIONARY WORK Read the Dictionary Strategy. Then look up these words in a dictionary and find adjectives that are formed from them. (Sometimes there is more than one adjective.)

afford coward fury pain peace self

- USE OF ENGLISH Complete the second sentence so that it has the same meaning as the first. Use adjectives from exercise 4.

An Australian murder mystery

I can understand a text about a mystery.

1 SPEAKING Work in pairs. Do you know any stories about unexplained deaths? Think about TV dramas, films and books.

2 Read the text on page 91. This mystery is sometimes called the Tamám Shud case. Why?

Reading Strategy

When you do a multiple-choice task, try to predict the answers just by looking at the beginning of each question, not the options. (It is not always possible, but sometimes you can.) Then look at the options. If one of them matches your prediction, it is probably the correct one. However, you still need to check carefully.

3 Read the Reading Strategy. Then look at the sentence beginnings below. Can you complete them? Do not look at exercise 4 yet.

- The suitcase did not help to identify the man because ..
- University professor John Cleland was the only person who ..
- The two clues contained in the book with the missing page were ..
- After they'd interviewed the nurse, the police wrongly thought that
- After many investigations, we now know ..

4 Circle the correct answers (a–d).

- The suitcase did not help to identify the man because
 - nothing in it had a name.
 - nobody was sure that the suitcase belonged to him
 - it only contained cigarettes, matches and a few other possessions.
 - they didn't find it until weeks after his death.
- University professor John Cleland was the only person who
 - understood the meaning of tamám shud.
 - found the secret pocket in the dead man's trousers.
 - had read the poem.
 - looked for clues to the dead man's identity.
- The two clues contained in the book with the missing page were
 - a soldier's telephone number and a secret message.
 - a message in Persian and a nurse's telephone number.
 - a secret message and a nurse's telephone number.
 - two telephone numbers and the name of a nurse
- After they'd interviewed the nurse, the police wrongly thought that
 - she had given Alfred Boxall a copy of the book.
 - the dead man was Alfred Boxall.
 - she could tell them what the secret message said.
 - the dead man had given her a copy of the book
- After many investigations, we now know
 - the identity of the dead man
 - what the secret message in the book means
 - how and why the man died.
 - where the piece of paper containing the words tamám shud came from.

8 SPEAKING Discuss these questions in pairs. Give reasons.

- Do you think people will ever solve the mystery of the Somerton Man? Why? / Why not?
- What do you think happened? Did he kill himself or did a murderer kill him?
- Do you think the information in exercise 7 is an important clue?
- Does it matter who the man is or why he died? Why have people tried so hard to find out?

Who was the Somerton Man?

3.04

It began at 6:30 a.m. on 1 December 1948 when some passers-by discovered the body of a man on Somerton Beach in Adelaide, Australia, just west of the city. The police arrived and launched a murder investigation. At the hospital, doctors examined the body but could not find out for sure how the man had died. In his pockets were a bus ticket from the city, a train ticket, a comb, chewing gum, cigarettes and matches. There was no wallet or identification. Nobody knew who the man was.

The police continued their investigation. They could not identify the man using fingerprints or dental records. Then, two weeks after the discovery of the body, there was a breakthrough: they found a suitcase that the man had left at Adelaide station the day before his death. Inside the case were some clothes, a knife, scissors and a brush.

However, these possessions did not reveal the man's identity. In fact, somebody had removed the labels from most of his clothes and another label from the suitcase itself.

A new expert joined the investigation: John Cleland, a professor at the University of Adelaide. In April, he found a clue that everybody else had missed: a small piece of paper in a secret pocket inside the dead man's trousers. On the paper were two words in Persian: tamám shud. The words are from a famous Persian poem, and they mean 'it is the end'. Somebody had torn the paper from an old copy of a book.

A few months later, a man gave police a copy of the book containing the poem. He said somebody had dropped it into his open-top car the day after the man on Somerton Beach died. The last page of the book – with the final two words – was missing. In the book, the police found two clues: a telephone number and a message. The message was in a secret code. The second line was crossed out, and some letters were unclear.

The telephone number belonged to a nurse. She said she had given a copy of the book to a soldier called Alfred Boxall in 1945. Finally, the police had solved the mystery: obviously, the dead man was Alfred Boxall!

There was only one problem: Alfred Boxall was still alive. The police found him and interviewed him. What is more, he still had his copy of the book. The mystery of the body on Somerton Beach continued.

So what about the mysterious five-line message? Could that contain the answer to this puzzle? Perhaps, but unfortunately we do not know what the message says. Nobody has ever solved the secret code.

Hi Ed

How are you? Last week I went with my class on a three-day trip to Dublin. We travelled by coach to Liverpool and then took the ferry. I didn't enjoy the crossing because the sea was a bit rough.

We stayed in a hotel near the centre, so it was really easy to get to lots of places in the city. The rooms were great and had really good views. The restaurant was really small and crowded though, and the food wasn't very nice.

While we were having breakfast one morning, somebody broke into my classmate's room and stole his wallet. He reported the crime to the hotel manager at once. After a while, the police arrived and interviewed three of the hotel employees. In the end, they didn't make any arrests.

I'm looking forward to your visit in the summer. What time is your flight due to arrive?

Write soon!

Chris

Reading

Strategy

Read each paragraph quickly and get a general idea of what it is about. Remember that the headings or questions that you need to match must relate to the whole paragraph, not just to a part of it.

- 1 Read the Strategy. Then read the first paragraph of the text. Which topic (1–4) is the paragraph about?

- 1 One man's life of crime 3 The history of the mail train
2 Crimes through the 1960s 4 A plan for a crime

- 2 Read the text and match statements A–G with paragraphs 1–6. There is one extra statement.

The crime of the century

- This is the story of one of Britain's most famous crimes: the Great Train Robbery. In 1963, an English criminal called Bruce Reynolds had an idea for a crime. He wanted to rob the night mail train from Glasgow to London because he knew the train carried thousands of pounds. He also knew he couldn't work alone, so he called fifteen other criminals and told them about the job. He called it 'the big one'.
- The gang bought a farmhouse in the middle of the countryside to escape to after the crime. They also found a criminal train driver to help them drive the train after they stopped it, and they organised trucks to carry the money. Then, on the night of the robbery, they put up false signals on the track and waited.
- The train appeared at around 3 a.m. and stopped at the false signals. The train driver, Jack Mills, was confused, so he got out and went to the signals. The thieves hit him on the head and then boarded the train. But now they had a problem – they needed to move the train to a bridge to unload the money, but their criminal train driver didn't understand the controls – he couldn't drive the train!
- The thieves decided to drag the driver, Jack Mills, back onto the train to help them. Then they had a surprise. There was more than the thousands of pounds they thought would be on the train – there was over two and a half million! In those days that was a huge amount of money.
- The men drove the money to their farmhouse and decided to wait there until the police ended their investigation. But this was a huge crime, and the police were looking everywhere. At last, the thieves became worried. They left the farmhouse with the money, and when the police found the house, they also found the men's fingerprints everywhere. The investigation continued, and the police started to arrest people. Many of the train robbers went to prison for thirty years for their crime.
- In April 1965, one of the gang members, Ronnie Biggs, escaped from prison. He lived in Australia with his wife and children, and then he went to Brazil. During this time, the newspapers wrote many stories about him. In 2001, he returned to Britain because he was very ill. He went back to prison, but then left again in 2009 and died in an old people's home. Many people have made films and written books about the Great Train Robbery. It is one of Britain's most famous crime stories.

This paragraph tells you .

- A how the thieves were discovered.
B how the men spent the money.
C how the thieves prepared for the robbery.
D the problem the robbers had on the night of the robbery.
E how their fame grew.
F what they found which was unexpected.
G why the thieves decided to work together.

Shopping centres have become a ¹ more than just places to shop and look for bargains. They are places of entertainment ² people meet and have fun. The passive (present perfect and future)

I can use different forms of the passive.

- 1 Look at the photo. What things do you think a wearable gadget can do?

- 2 Read the text and check your ideas from exercise 1.

The camera revolution

Over the past 20 years, ¹the way in which we take, keep and share photos has been transformed. Most people now use smartphones and digital cameras to take photos, and billions of photos have been uploaded to social networking sites. ²So have traditional celluloid film cameras been replaced by these gadgets? Not yet, but it won't be long.

But things are going to change again. Wearable gadgets have recently been developed that allow you to take a photo simply by blinking. You can also send messages and surf the internet. ³The technology hasn't been perfected, so ⁴these devices won't be sold in shops for a while.

⁵Will cameras and mobiles be replaced by wearable gadgets? They haven't been replaced yet, but it may happen sooner than we think. What's certain is that ⁶our lives will be changed by these devices in ways we haven't even thought of.

Verb + preposition

I can understand and use verb + preposition collocations.

- 1 Would you like to travel to another planet? Why? / Why not?
- 2 Read the text. Do you think the Mars One project is a good idea? Give reasons for your answer.

MARS ONE

The Mars One project is planning to send people to Mars to live there permanently. The idea of living on other planets clearly appeals to a lot of people, because over 200,000 individuals want to take part in the mission. But how will the settlers adjust to the conditions on Mars? Here are some of the problems they will face.

- The atmosphere consists of 95% carbon dioxide and almost no oxygen.
- The settlers will have to cope with very low temperatures (similar to Antarctica) and very high levels of ultra-violet radiation.
- Gravity is only 38% of that on Earth. We need to learn more about the effects that would have on their bodies.
- Mars Rovers have already searched for water on Mars but have found none that is in liquid form.

The plan is to send another Rover to Mars in 2018. Its job will be to prepare for the arrival of the first four settlers in 2025. It will construct 'houses' for the inhabitants, with a supply of fresh air, water and solar power. After that, four more settlers will arrive every two years. How long will the settlers stay? Nobody knows. The volunteer settlers will get a 'one-way ticket'. It may be possible to bring them back to Earth at some point in the future, but there is no guarantee!

Inventions the world forgot

1 The Telharmonium

The Telharmonium was the world's first electronic musical instrument. It was designed by an American, Thaddeus Cahill, in 1897. Three models of the instrument were built; the first weighed about 7,000 kg, and the other two weighed nearly 200,000 kg! Music from the instrument was broadcast to people's homes using another new invention: the telephone. For the first time, people could stay at home and listen on their telephones to live music from another part of the country. (The radio had not been invented.) People loved these concerts, but there were problems. Some telephone users who were not listening to the concert were interrupted by loud music half way through their conversation! By 1914, the world was no longer interested in the Telharmonium. After Cahill's death in 1934, his brother kept one of the three models, but in 1962 it was destroyed. No recordings of the music were kept, so the Telharmonium and its unique sound have disappeared forever.

2 The Rejuvenator

In the early part of the 20th century, there was a lot of interest in the power of electricity to cure medical conditions. A device called the Rejuvenator was invented by British scientist Otto Overbeck in 1925. It was used in the home to treat all kinds of medical problems, including deafness and baldness, and became very popular. It was advertised in newspapers and members of the public were invited to watch live demonstrations in theatres. The users placed electrodes on any part of their body and a small electric current was passed through it. It was unclear exactly how the machine worked, but hundreds were sold all around the world and Overbeck became rich. In the 1950s, it was still possible to buy new parts for these machines, but today they are only seen in museums.

3 The Writing Ball

The Writing Ball was invented in 1865 by Rasmus Malling-Hansen from Denmark. It was a machine for typing onto paper. Malling-Hansen spent a long time working on the design. For example, he made sure all the keys were placed in the best positions for typing quickly. The machine even used electricity to make the movement faster. There was one problem, however: you could not see the paper as you were typing. Nevertheless, the Writing Ball was sold all over Europe and was very successful. However, each model was made by hand. Soon, other machines became more popular because they were made in factories and were cheaper. A new keyboard was developed with the keys arranged differently. This arrangement is now used on phones and computer keyboards all over the world, even though it was quicker to type using the Writing Ball. The once-popular Writing Ball was forgotten.

4 The Antikythera Mechanism

In 1901, a ship was discovered at the bottom of the sea near the Greek island of Antikythera. On the ship was an ancient machine. It had been made about 1,900 years earlier, in 2 BC. For many years after its discovery, nobody understood exactly what the machine was for. But in the 1970s, scientists used X-rays to find out its secrets. Amazingly, they found that the machine was an ancient computer. It had been designed to predict the movements of the sun, the moon and the planets. It did this using more than thirty hand-made metal wheels of different sizes. A study of the mechanism in 2006 was led by Professor Michael Edmunds from Cardiff University. He described the device as 'just extraordinary, the only thing of its kind' and 'more valuable than the Mona Lisa'. Reconstructions have been made and the device works perfectly.

- 2 Read the task and the letter. Do you agree or disagree with the writer's opinions? Give reasons.

Your local council has issued a new town planning policy and decided not to include any cycle lanes in the town centre. Write a letter of complaint about this decision.

Dear Sir or Madam,

- 1 I am writing to express my disappointment at the council's recent decision not to include any cycle lanes in town. Since I do not have a car, I cycle everywhere, so this is a very important issue for me.
- 2 My main reason for objecting to the decision is that cycle lanes improve the safety of cyclists. Without cycle lanes, more cyclists are injured in accidents, as it is far more difficult for drivers to see them.
- 3 I realise that it is expensive to build cycle lanes. However, I believe it is a good use of public money. Pollution is a problem and we should be encouraging people to cycle rather than going by car because it is better for the environment.
- 4 All in all, I believe this is a very bad decision. Unless the council reconsiders, there will be a negative effect on road safety and on the environment.

Reading

Strategy

Read each text quickly and decide what kind of text it is, e.g. an advert, a notice, a description, etc. This will help you answer questions about gist and intention.

1 Read the Strategy. Then read the five short texts, ignoring the questions under them. Decide what kind of texts they are.

2 Read the texts and answer the questions (1–5). Circle the correct answer (A–D).

1 TV opportunity!

Great Inventions is a new TV show and we are looking for young people to take part. Interested? We invite you to make a two-minute video that shows your idea for a new invention. Make sure you include:

- personal details: name, age, and address.
- the name of your invention, how you got the idea and how it works.

You can email us your video or send it to the address shown on our website. We'll choose the ones we think are most interesting. Your prize? The chance to appear on our TV show!

1 What do the programme makers want?

- A new inventors
- B experienced film makers
- C young TV presenters
- D young actors

2 20th-century inventions

The most important modern invention has to be the mobile phone. It was only invented in the 1970s, but look at it now! Everyone has a phone. Originally, of course, phones were large and were only used to make phone calls. Now those phones are in museums! Modern mobile phones are mini-computers – you can do so much with them. You can buy very expensive phones, but you can also buy cheap models. That's why, in my view, it's the best 20th-century invention.

2 What is the purpose of the text?

- A to advertise mobile phones
- B to invite people to a museum exhibition
- C to give an opinion about an invention
- D to advise people to avoid cheap phones

3 3D printers

3D printers are a new kind of machine that can make everyday objects. They're amazing because they can produce different things in different materials. A 3D printer can make anything from cups and plates to plastic toys and even chocolate cakes! So how do they work? First you design a 3D object on your computer, then you connect it to a 3D printer. Press 'print' and watch it work. The printer makes the object in very thin layers, like the pages of a book – one on top of the other until you have a complete object.

3 What is the writer of the text doing?

- A giving an idea about the future of printers
- B describing an invention
- C giving a short history of an object
- D explaining different inventions

4 Tim Berners-Lee is the British computer scientist who is given the credit for inventing the World Wide Web.

People had been developing the internet since the 1960s. However, Tim Berners-Lee put all the ideas together to create the World Wide Web. In 1990, he produced the first version and it was put online in 1991.

He could have made a lot of money from his invention, but he decided to offer it to the world as a gift.

4 What would be the best title for this article?

- A The inventor of the internet
- B The advantages of the world wide web
- C An expensive communication system
- D The growth of the internet

5 What's my password?

These days we have so many computer passwords that it isn't surprising that we often forget them. That's why most people create passwords which are based on the people, places and things they know best. Using names and dates in different ways is popular. For example, combining part of your name with your date of birth. Using a childhood memory is also very common. You might use the name of the street you grew up in, or the name of your favourite teacher.

5 According to this article, how do most people decide on their passwords?

- A They only have one or two passwords for everything
- B They choose words which are very personal.
- C They only use information about themselves.
- D They use numbers rather than letters.

Listening

Strategy

To decide if a statement is true or false, you should only use the information in the text. A true / false task is a test of comprehension, not your general knowledge.

3 Read the Strategy. Which sentences in the exam task in exercise 4 do you think are true? Why do you think so? Discuss your ideas in pairs.

- 4 3.16 Listen to the text. Are the sentences true or false? Write T or F.

- Galileo invented the telescope.
- Galileo immediately used the telescope to study space.
- The United States sent the first person into space.
- There was an astronaut in Vostok 1.
- A woman explored space before men landed on the Moon.
- Most spacecraft have successfully landed on Mars.
- The speaker thinks it's useful to land on Mars.
- The speaker is mainly describing the advantages of space exploration.

Use of English

Strategy

Read the text quickly, ignoring the gaps, to get a general idea of what it is about. Then read it again more slowly and think about what type of words are missing, e.g. adjective, adverb, etc. When you have decided, look at the word given and consider how to change it. Think carefully about spelling, e.g. happy → happily NOT happyly.

- 5 Read the Strategy. Then read the text in exercise 6 and work out what kind of words are missing from each gap.

- 6 Complete the text with the correct form of the words in brackets.

Food inventions

A lot of popular food was invented ¹ _____ (ACCIDENT). For example, a chef called George Crum was working in a restaurant in Saratoga Springs in the US. One day, a ² _____ (CUSTOM) complained about his fried potatoes. He wanted them to be fried for a ³ _____ (LONG) time than usual and to be cut into thinner slices. Maybe Crum was tired that day because he was very ⁴ _____ (HAPPY) about this! He sliced the potatoes very ⁵ _____ (THIN) and fried them for a very long time. ⁶ _____ (STRANGE), the man loved them, and so, potato crisps were created! Another ⁷ _____ (FAME) example is when a pharmacist named John Pemberton was working on some medicine for people who were tired or feeling ⁸ _____ (NERVE). One of his assistants used carbonated water by mistake, not still water. The result was the fizzy drink: cola.

Speaking

Strategy

Make sure you use appropriate language when doing a role-play exercise. You should learn suitable expressions that you can use for different situations, e.g. making a complaint, making a decision about what to buy.

- 7 Read the Strategy. Then look at expressions 1–8. Which of these can you use to make a complaint? Can you think of any other expressions?

- Can I have my money back, please?
- It doesn't work.
- It's perfect.
- You're right about that.
- There's something wrong with it.
- I'm not happy about that.
- That's a good idea.
- Can I see the manager, please?

- 8 Work in pairs. Do a role-play. You are complaining in a shop because an item you bought is faulty. Discuss these four issues during the conversation with the shop assistant and try to come to an agreement.

- What you bought.
- What the problem is.
- What you want to happen next.
- What you will do if that isn't possible.

- 9 Summarise what you have agreed on. Say how you feel about the solution.

Now swap roles, and repeat the activity with a different complaint.

Writing

Strategy

When you have finished writing, read through your work carefully and check for grammar mistakes.

- 10 Read the Strategy. Then read the sentences below and find the errors.

- I would like to sending you my latest invention.
- I did not enter a competition before.
- I always am working hard every day.
- I going to send you a short video.
- I write to you to find out more information
- I looking forward to hearing from you.

- 11 Imagine you are entering a competition for a new invention or design. Write a formal letter to the organiser in which you:

- explain why you are writing.
- describe your invention.
- say what inspired you.
- explain why you think it would be useful

HOW FOREIGNERS SEE THE BRITISH

3.17

What is a typical British person like? People who come to Britain from other countries probably have a few expectations: British people are polite, rather reserved, and enjoy drinking tea and standing in queues! But how accurate is this stereotype? In an online survey of 1,402 foreign nationals living in the UK, just over half said that the British matched their expectations.

The survey also asked which aspects of the British character the foreign nationals liked and disliked. British people's good manners were popular with 49% and 40% liked the ability to queue. Many agreed that the British are reserved and for 32% this was a good quality – but for 19% it was negative. Other negative aspects were the British sense of humour (31%) and British culture in general (28%). The real Robinson Crusoe

Written by Daniel Defoe and published in 1719, Robinson Crusoe is one of the oldest and most famous adventure stories in English literature. In the story, Crusoe is marooned on a desert island and spends 27 years there¹ he is rescued. Defoe probably got the 'idea for his novel from the true story of the Scottish sailor, Alexander Selkirk.

² the early 18th century, England was at war with Spain, and Selkirk joined the crew of an English ship, the Cinque Ports.³ attacked Spanish colonies and ships in the South Pacific. In 1704, Selkirk's ship stopped at a remote island for fresh water and supplies. Selkirk was worried

⁴ the ship was in poor condition and, instead of returning to it, decided⁵ on the island alone. He became very lonely and quickly regretted his decision, but he was right⁶ the Cinque Ports: it sank. Selkirk survived by building a shelter and killing animals for food. Two ships visited the island the following year, but unfortunately they were Spanish.⁷ Selkirk hid from sight. An English ship finally arrived at the island in February 1709 and Selkirk was able to return home.

BRITISH TV around the world

3.21

Selling British TV programmes to countries around the world is an important industry for the UK. It brings in around £1.3 billion a year. The top countries for British TV exports are 1) the USA, 2) Sweden, 3) Denmark, 4) Germany and 5) Norway.

There are two main types of TV export: finished programmes and formats. When countries buy a finished programme, it is ready to broadcast on their own channels. When they buy a format, they are just buying the idea for a programme. They then have to make the programme in their own language and with people and places from their own countries.

Many of the finished programmes are dramas. For example, the historical drama Downton Abbey is very popular in many countries. Midsomer Murders, a detective drama from 1997, is still a huge favourite around the world. Wildlife documentaries are also an important export.

Popular British formats include several talent shows: The X Factor and Strictly Come Dancing are two well-known examples. Cookery programmes are very popular too. For example, local versions of Masterchef are on TV in more than forty different countries, including India and Iran.

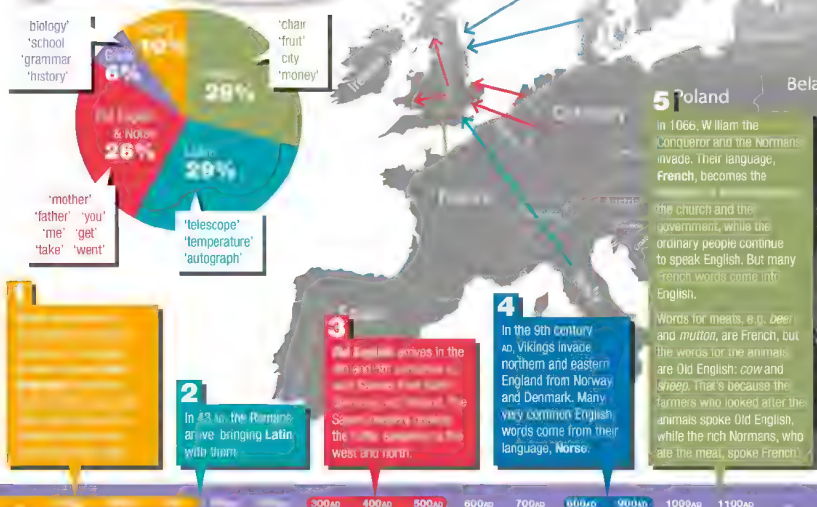

Different TV shows are popular in different countries. For example, the science fiction show Doctor Who is very popular in Turkey and many other countries. But when a TV company in Finland bought the programme, audiences there did not like it at all. They prefer an old police drama called Heartbeat, which was popular in the UK twenty years ago and only sells to a few countries.

Alcatraz is a small, rocky island in San Francisco Bay in the USA. It is 2.4 km from the shore and the sea around the island is very dangerous. The water is very cold and there are fast, strong currents. In the 19th century, the American government realised it was the ideal place to put dangerous prisoners, because it is very difficult to reach and even more difficult to escape from. So they built a prison on the island and from the 1930s to the 1960s it was the toughest prison in the USA. Over 1,500 prisoners stayed on the island, including America's most violent bank robbers and murderers. The most famous prisoner was the gangster Al Capone. But the prison was never full and it was very expensive to run, so the government finally decided to close it. Alcatraz became a museum and is now one of San Francisco's most popular tourist attractions, with more than one and a half million visitors a year.

CODE - BREAKERS

The Bombe

During the 1930s, German military power was increasing. Its neighbours – in particular, Poland and France – were becoming more and more worried about the danger of an invasion. In Poland, a team of brilliant young mathematicians worked hard to break Germany's military codes. It was difficult because the Germans used a complex machine called Enigma to send and receive their codes. But by 1938, the Polish team could understand 75% of Germany's secret messages. This was mainly thanks to an invention by Marian Rejewski called the bomba. However, that year, the Germans changed their Enigma machines and made the codes far more difficult to break. As World War II began, the Polish team shared their ideas about Enigma with British and French code-breakers.

7 INTERNET RESEARCH Find out five more facts about Bletchley Park and the people who worked there during World War II. Then share your information with the class.

A team of code-breakers – men and women – worked at a secret location in the south of England: Bletchley Park. They included Alan Turing, a mathematician with an interest in computing. At Bletchley Park, he designed an early form of computer which they called the Bombe. (It was based on Rejewski's design.) They used it to help break complex codes. Compared to today's computers, the Bombe was huge and not very powerful. But at the time, it was some of the most advanced technology in the world. It made the work of the code-breakers much faster.

Marian Rejewski worked as a code-breaker in Britain during the war. In 1946, he returned to Poland and worked as an accountant. He kept his code-breaking work secret from everybody until 1967! But today, his work is celebrated each year at Bletchley Park.

Past continuous

2.1 We form the past continuous with was or were + the -ing form of the verb

Affirmative	Negative	Questions
I was playing	I wasn't playing	Was I playing?
you were playing	you weren't playing	Were you playing?
he/she/it was playing	he/she/it wasn't playing	Was he/she/it playing?
we/you/they were playing	we/you/they weren't playing	Were we/you/they playing?

2.2 To form the -ing form, we add -ing to the end of most verbs.

+ -ing: work → working study → studying

With most verbs ending in -e, we drop the -e and add -ing.

-e → -ing: dance → dancing write → writing

But if the verb ends in -ee, we simply add -ing.

+ -ing: agree → agreeing see → seeing

And if the verb ends in -ie, we change the -ie to -y and add -ing.

-ie → -ying: die → dying lie → lying

If the verb ends in a short accented vowel + a consonant, we double the consonant and add -ing.

-p → -pping: drop → dropping

-n → -nning: plan → planning

-t → -tting: chat → chatting

2.3 We often use the past continuous to set the scene.

The sun was shining brightly. Some tourists were standing in the square. A man was sailing on creams.

We use the past continuous to talk about an action that was in progress at a particular time

At seven o'clock this morning, was eating my breakfast.

2.4 When we use the past continuous with two or more actions, we do not need to repeat the subject (I, we, etc.) or was / were if the subject is the same.

We were sitting at a table, chatting and drinking coffee.

Contrast: past simple and past continuous

2.5 We use the past simple for a sequence of events in the past.

The events happened one after another.

She walked into the room and sat down. Then she opened her bag and took out a letter.

We use the past continuous to describe a scene in the past. The events were in progress at the same time.

She was sitting in the room, reading a letter. A man was looking out of the window.

2.6 We use the past simple and the past continuous together for a single event that interrupted a longer event in the past. We use the past continuous for the longer event and the past simple for the interruption.

As she was reading the letter, the phone rang.
(longer event) (interruption)

We can use as or while with the past continuous. We usually put a comma between the longer action and the interruption.

While we were having lunch, my uncle arrived.

As we were having lunch, my uncle arrived.

If we don't use as or while with the past continuous, we use when with the past simple. In these sentences, we usually do not include a comma.

We were having lunch when my uncle arrived.

2.7 We do not use the past continuous – or any continuous tense – with certain verbs. The meaning of these verbs is usually connected with a state rather than an action. They include:

- hate, like, love, need, prefer, want, wish
- believe, know, mean, realise, recognise, remember, suppose, understand
- belong, contain, depend, matter, owe, possess

They weren't dancing because they didn't like the music. ✓

NOT They weren't dancing because they weren't liking the music. ✗

Some verbs are not used in continuous tenses when they have a particular meaning, e.g. the verb have when it means 'to own or possess'.

He had dark hair and was wearing a white T-shirt. ✓

NOT He was having dark hair and was wearing a white T-shirt. ✗

Comparative adjectives

4.1 Forming the comparative

We add -er to all one-syllable adjectives.

+ -er: long → longer straight → straighter

If a one-syllable adjective ends in -e, we add -r.

+ -r: wide → wider large → larger

If a one-syllable adjective ends in a short vowel + a single consonant, we double the consonant and add -er.

-t → -tter: hot → hotter wet → wetter

-n → -nner: thin → thinner

If a two-syllable adjective ends in consonant + -y, we drop the -y and add -ier.

-y → -ier: friendly → friendlier sunny → sunnier

A few other two-syllable adjectives have comparative forms ending in -er.

quiet → quieter narrow → narrower gentle → gentler simple → simpler

For most two-syllable adjectives and all adjectives with three or more syllables, we use the word more to form the comparative.

boring → more boring difficult → more difficult

A small number of adjectives have irregular comparative forms.

They are:

good → better bad → worse far → further

Some quantifiers have irregular forms.

few → fewer much / many → more a little → less than

4.2 We use than to compare two things or people

Horror films are usually scarier than thrillers.

We usually use the object pronoun (me, you, he, him, us, them) after than, not a subject pronoun.

You're taller than me.

We can make a comparison stronger by using far or much before the comparative form.

Dolphins are far more intelligent than sharks.

Hungarian is much harder to learn than English.

(not) as ... as

4.3 We use (not) as ... as to compare two things or people.

Not as ... as means 'less ... than'.

Jack is twelve. Liam is fourteen. Jack isn't as old as Liam.

As ... as means 'equally ...'.

My brother and I both weigh 62 kg. I'm as heavy as my brother.

We usually use the object pronoun (me, you, he, him, us, them) after (not) as ... as, not a subject pronoun.

We aren't as rich as them.

She's as excited as me.

Superlative adjectives

4.4 Spelling

We put the in front of short (one-syllable and some two-syllable) adjectives and add -est.

+ -est long → the longest

If the short adjective ends in -e, we add -st.

+ -st wide → the widest

If the short adjective ends in a short vowel + a single consonant, we double the consonant and add -est.

-t → -ttest hot → the hottest

If the adjective ends in -y, we drop the -y and add -iest.

-y → -iest friendly → the friendliest

If the adjective is long (two syllables or more), we use the word most.

gripping → the most gripping

A small number of adjectives have irregular superlative forms.

They are:

good → the best bad → the worst far → the furthest

4.5 We can use of after superlative adjectives.

the longest day of the year

We use in, not of, with nouns for groups or places.

the tallest man in the world the longest river in China

too and enough

4.6 Too comes before an adjective. Enough comes after an adjective.

This jacket is too small for him.

This jacket isn't big enough for him.

4.7 Enough comes before a noun.

He can't buy it. He hasn't got enough money.

4.8 We often use an infinitive with to after too + adjective or adjective + enough.

He's too young / old enough to join the army.

Zero conditional

4.9 We use the zero conditional to talk about a result which follows a particular action. We use the present to describe the action and the present simple to describe the result.

If I eat too much, I feel ill.

The if clause can come before or after the main clause. If it comes after, we don't use a comma.

If I drink a lot of coffee, I can't sleep.

I can't sleep if I drink a lot of coffee.

will and going to

5.1 We form sentences with will like this will + infinitive without to
I will go.

The form of will is the same for all persons (I, you, he, she, etc.). In the affirmative, we usually use the short form 'll with subject pronouns (I, you, he, she, etc.). However we never use the short form in an affirmative short answer. In the negative, we usually use the short form won't. We use won't in negative short answers too.

affirmative	negative
I'll see you later. She'll be angry. (full form = will)	I won't tell anybody. They won't listen. (full form = will not)
Questions	Short answers
Will you be at home? Will it work? When will we know?	Yes, I will No, I won't

5.2 We use will

- to make factual statements about the future
There will be a solar eclipse in 2026.
- to make predictions, especially when they are based on what we know or when they are just a guess. We often use I think / don't think ... to make these predictions.

I'm going to invite her to my party

5.5

	will	going to
Predictions	based on our own knowledge and opinions: Messi will score. He always scores in important games.	based on the situation and what we can see or hear: Messi's got the ball. He's going to score!
Decisions	instant decisions that we make while speaking: Show me the menu. Hmm. I'll have chicken	intentions – things that we have already decided: I'm going to have chicken tonight. I bought it this morning.

5.6 We can make predictions and plans with will or going to more certain or uncertain by adding definitely or probably. Pay attention to the position of the adverb.
I'll definitely / probably be at home this weekend
I definitely / probably won't finish my homework.
I'm definitely / probably (not) going to invite friends round

First conditional

5.7 We use the first conditional to predict the result of a future action. We use the present simple to describe the action and will + infinitive without to to describe the result.
If the weather's fine tomorrow, we'll play tennis.
(action) (result)
If you go to bed early, you won't be tired tomorrow
(action) (result)

5.8 The if clause can come before or after the main clause. If it comes after, we do not use a comma.
If you work hard, you'll do well at school.
You'll do well at school if you work hard.

Present perfect

6.1 We form the present perfect with the present tense of the auxiliary verb have and the past participle.

Affirmative		Full form
I've / you've / we've / they've	finished	've = have he's / she's / it's		's = has
Negative
I / you / we / they haven't		haven't = have not he / she / it hasn't	finished	hasn't = has not
Questions		Short answers
Have I / you / we / they	finished?	Yes, I have. / No, you haven't.
Has he / she / it		Yes, he has. / No, she hasn't.

6.2 The past participle of regular verbs is the same as the past simple. It ends in -ed. (See 1.2 on page 125 for past simple spelling rules.)

play → played dance → danced study → studied drop → dropped

With irregular verbs, sometimes the past participle is the same as the past simple, but sometimes it is different:

Infinitive	Past simple	Past participle
buy	bought	bought
put	put	put
see	saw	seen
take	took	taken

There is a list of irregular verbs in the Workbook.

6.3 We use the present perfect:

- to give news, when we do not say exactly when the event happened.

Guess what! I've passed my exam!

- to talk about events during a period of time (for example, a holiday) that is still continuing

I'm in Paris. I've visited a museum but I haven't seen the Eiffel Tower.

- to ask how long a situation has existed

How long have you been in Spain?

- with for or since to say how long a situation has existed. We use for with a period of time or since to say when it started.

We've been in Spain for a week / since Tuesday.

6.4 We use both been and gone as the past participle of the verb go. We use been when somebody has returned.

John has been shopping. (He went shopping but he's here now.)

We use gone when somebody has not returned.

John has gone shopping. (He is still at the shops.)

Past simple and present perfect contrast

6.5 We use both the past simple and the present perfect to talk about completed actions in the past.

I finished 'The Hobbit' last night. I really enjoyed it.

I've finished 'The Hobbit'. You can read it now.

- We use the past simple to talk about a specific occasion in the past, at a definite time.

I went to the cinema last Saturday night. I saw the new Spiderman film.

- We use the present perfect to talk about an experience at any time in the past. The exact time of the experience isn't stated.

I've been to Italy three times.

'Have you ever eaten Chinese food?' 'Yes, I have.'

- We can use finished-time expressions with the past simple, but not with the present perfect.

I visited my cousin yesterday / last Tuesday / on 1 May / in January, etc.

(NOT I've visited my cousin yesterday, etc.)

See point 6.3 for a list of the uses of the present perfect.

6.6 We often use the present perfect to ask and answer about an experience, and then the past simple to give specific information about it.

'Have you ever broken a bone?' 'Yes, I broke my leg when I was 12.'

Second conditional

7.1 We use the second conditional to describe an imaginary situation or event and its result.

If I lived near the sea, I would go to the beach a lot.
(imaginary situation) (result)

We use the past simple in the if clause and we use would + infinitive without to in the main clause. The short forms of would are 'd and wouldn't.

If she had a car, she 'd learn to drive.

If she learned to drive, she wouldn't use her bike.

7.2 We can put the main clause first and the if clause second.

I 'd buy you a present if I had enough money.

When the main clause is first, we usually do not put a comma between the clauses.

7.3 In the main clause, we can use could to mean would + can. Could is also the past simple of can, so we can use it in the if clause too.

If I won the lottery, I could stop work.

If I could remember his number, I 'd call him.
